retry does help as it's random, but sooooo annoying.

if it's "sooooo annoying" then I guess it deserves a "high" prio :-) yi, can you take a look please?

We can increase the time here as a quick solution. However I see a lot of code duplications here. I'll try to make the code clearer and shorter.

Yes, that would be appreciated. I suggest you provide a fix in short term (i.e. today or monday, simply bump the timeout and verify that it works) and then clean up the code afterwards, preferably paired with not wasting time then with too high timeouts on check_screens when they won't match normally.

Oliver, my working directory is at NIS server, and I didn't get VPN working today. So today I won't be able to do a quick fix. :(Next week I'll be on vacation. Maybe someone else can do the quick fix today or next week, and then I'll clean up the code when I'm back from vacation.
