Description

Description

As a first step before the job group split, we need to do some technical per-requisites. One of them is ttm, which cannot monitor combined job groups.
We need to explore how we can overcome this limitation, so we get same result in the end with separate job groups.

Acceptance criteria

1. ttm can monitor 2 (or more) jobs groups and process combined scope

I am not sure we are ready to do this yet. I recommend to post-pone this, ok? If not ok then please start with a first step to ask dimstar, maxlin and Inussel about their feedback to the idea first.

okurz, as we have discussed, we won't split job group on openSUSE, it's about OSD only and RMs were fine with this approach.

#7 - 2018-10-09 21:02 - okurz

- Target version changed from Milestone 23 to future

yes, agreed. It is osd only. But in this case then I do not even see the need for us to immediately care about ttm support for multiple job groups at all. Should we ask QSK which are also motivated to lok into it?

#9 - 2018-10-17 14:28 - okurz

Created a QSK specific ticket which is now related.

#10 - 2020-05-14 14:08 - riafarov

- Parent task deleted (#40475)

We didn't introduce separate job group for TW, so this is not required unless we change our mind.
