Description

Motivation

Found working on: #43703

When calling script_sudo or assert_script_sudo as root (eg to avoid code duplication) it fails as openQA expects a password prompt that doesn't appear when the shell is already a root-shell:

To show this issue I just added this two lines to the top of a test module:

```
select_console 'root-console';
assert_script_sudo 'whoami';

<http://artemis.suse.de/tests/1007#step/rsync/10>

Expected result: openQA should gracefully handle this.

Acceptance criteria

- AC1:assert_script_sudo can be run when current user is root.
- AC2: Duplicate code is adapted (like <https://github.com/os-autoinst/os-autoinst-distrib-opensuse/pull/6270>)
