Description
It seems that x11/yast2_lan_restart.pm line 95, is expecting the network to be restarted after hardware device name change, but there is no recorded restart of network in journal.log (according to lib/y2lan_restart_common.pm line 153, see https://progress.opensuse.org/issues/62465). This leads to test failure.

test fails after insertion of line :

95: verify_network_configuration(&change_hw_device_name, 'dyn0', 'restart');

in tests/x11/yast2_lan_restart.pm

There is no restart after change hardware device name. Related ticket:

The test will stop failing if we remove the expected_status='restart' argument, but according to previous versions of SLE, there should be a restart (see <https://fate.suse.com/318787>).
