client.conf is used by scripts that interact with the api and the worker already reads workers.ini so seems natural to move worker credentials to workers.ini

- Related to action #6096: Restrict workers to have full API access by random, individual tokens (was: change worker authentication) added

#2 - 2015-03-10 08:21 - Inussel

need to move ownership of client.conf back to openQA-common then

#3 - 2015-03-10 09:01 - coolo

actually it can live in openQA then - the workers have no use for it afterwards

#4 - 2015-12-20 09:26 - okurz

shouldn't this issue be obsoleted by #4654 ?

#5 - 2015-12-21 08:40 - Inussel

only if it actually gets implemented. It would be nice to get rid of nfs though in which case this issue is still valid

I think by now the design has changed enough to make this whole thing obsolete, e.g. we do not rely on NFS anymore.
