Description
Many test suites on o3 as well as osd as well as many test modules in os-autoinst-distri-opensuse still reference me (okurz) as maintainer from the time I was PO for QSF-u . Please take over maintainership as new PO

Waiting for test plan

Maybe I can provide some help. The idea was very simple: In all test suites where it says "okurz@suse.de" – except the ones for openQA :) – replace that by a different email address pointing to another PO within QA SLE, could be other teams than QSF-u as well if you think others are a better match.

My concern here is that it is not high priority given all the other tasks that I have to do. And I didn't want to just assign every test module to QSF-U PO without checking first if the module should fall under QSF-U umbrella. This is why I want to wait for the test plan, where we define what is the scope of QSF-U and what are our responsibilities of which tests.

Are you getting annoyed with people asking you about modules where you appear as maintainer?

Well, not annoyed :) But that is the main reason for this ticket: We should just be fair: I am not the QSF PO anymore and – with the mentioned exceptions – the best match is the QSF-u PO to take over, that is you :) Of course after taking over it is in your authority to decide if certain tests should not be conducted anymore at all or if you can transfer the responsibility to other teams. I just have other responsibilities now and should be less concerned with the maintainership of the referenced test suites and also test modules.

Timo, could you take a look?

No time to work on this :(

PR was merged, and also o3 & OSD test suites were updated. I changed things that are maintained by QE Core and QE Yast to be accordingly.
