Description
In the case of a problem, the invis-server sends mails to a named administrator. This is usually an external service provider. Such mails should also be sent to a local manager. We should add a cc-address to our configuration and extend the emergmailer script.

History

We have two maildresses our configuration file "invis.conf". The first one is the named administrator, the second is named as "mailsender". This address is also used as mail-contact inside the server certificates. We can use this address as cc-address.
