Schedule a bug smashing meeting

We had a lot of open bugs, something like 240 for Leap 15.2 GA. I'd like to have a public weekly meeting(s) with shared screen where we'd regularly process problematic components.

People would have an option to raise bugs that hinder them, and perhaps provide more feedback/context.

Bug smashing - as a name was idea of Stephan Barth

Idea would be to make sure that each bug has at least some update within reasonable time (at least each quarter). Which is significant improvement from e.g. 2-3 years.

Saying "no because ...." is always better than not saying anything.
