Description
Take the feature highlights and use them to compose a first draft press announcement. Some tips:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Remember the 3x3! From those, pick the most important features to be mentioned. Again, First, Best, Only: something noteworthy.</li><li>• The headline summarizes that we released our product ("openSUSE released 13.1"), the sub-title has the most important features that our awesome distro delivers. The following paragraph expands on those and leads to the details that follow.</li><li>• Those not reading beyond the first paragraph must know the most important news! So, most important info there. Make sure to clearly answer the 5 W's &amp; H in the first paragraph: Who is this about? What is the actual news? When does this happen? Where does this even take place? Why this is news? How is this happening?</li><li>• Include details, numbers, facts and quotes.</li><li>• 1 page is best, 2 pages absolute maximum.</li></ul>
Check our previous announcements for more details. 12.3 is here: http://lists.opensuse.org/opensuse-announce/2013-03/msg00001.html
