Description

*## Motivation
Currently, there are two different approaches used for the same navigation functionality (press_next() method in controllers for specific pages and in NavigationController).

In order to have consistency and to not collect technical debt, only one solution should be kept - NavigationController.

Scope

Existing Test Modules, Controllers and Pages that use press_next with LibyuiClient (e.g. tests/installation/system_role/select_role.pm, lib/Installation/SystemRole/SystemRoleController.pm, lib/Installation/SystemRole/SystemRolePage.pm)

Task

1. Find test modules, controllers and pages that use press_next with LibyuiClient (press_next method in the approach where we use needles is out of scope);
2. Remove the press_next from pages, controllers and test modules that use it;
3. Replace the former approach with the NavigationController#proceed_next_screen\(\).
4. Check first the cases where press_next is already separated at test level, but not in NavigationController
5. In case the task is very big, we can split it into smaller ones.
